INTRODUCTORY

Towards the end of August 1953, the Government of Mysore asked me to undertake the extraction of figures relating to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, for submission of circle-wise statements to the Delimitation Commission. Just when the work was about to be taken on hand accordingly, the Prime Minister happened to announce in Parliament that a High-Power Commission was shortly to be appointed to go into the question of reorganisation of States. Since this meant that sooner or later there would be a demand for villagewise language data, at least in respect of bilingual areas in the State, I sought the permission of the Deputy Registrar General to extract the language figures simultaneously with the extraction of figures for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.

The Deputy Registrar General, India, readily fell in with my view but suggested that the extraction of villagewise language data be confined only to taluks lying 'on either side of a linguistic dividing line.' Accordingly, figures were extracted for the villages of the following 13 clearly bilingual taluks :—

BANGALORE DISTRICT	TUMKUR DISTRICT	KOLAR DISTRICT	CHITALDRUG DISTRICT
Hoskote	Pavagada	Malur	Challakere
Devanhalli	Koratagere	Kolar
Anekal	Madhugiri	Goribidnur
Dodballapur		Chikballapur
		Sidlaghatta

With villagewise language data compiled for the above taluks, I thought I had anticipated all possible demands. But just as I was flattering myself on this, there came from certain members of the State Assembly, a call for figures relating to twelve more taluks, in addition to those for which figures had already been abstracted. As this demand had necessarily to be complied with, I undertook villagewise language sorting for these additional taluks with the approval of the State Government and the Deputy Registrar General. While doing so, I decided to take in Sira Taluk also in my stride, as there was the possibility of eleventh-hour demands being sprung on me in respect of this taluk, on the plausible ground of its sharing its north-eastern boundary with the Anantapur District of Andhra State. Including this taluk, the additional taluks taken up for villagewise language sorting were the following :—

BANGALORE DISTRICT	KOLAR DISTRICT	TUMKUR DISTRICT	CHITALDRUG DISTRICT
Bangalore South	Srinivasapur	Sira	Molakalmuru
Bangalore North	Mulbagal		Chitaldrug
	Chintamani		Hiriyur
	Bagepalli		Jagalur
	Gudibanda
	Bangarpet

In compiling language data for the above 26 taluks, all possible precautions were taken to ensure absolute accuracy. The 20 Sorters and 2 Supervisors who were engaged on the job were specially picked men. The work of each sorter was checked by another and if the mother-tongue of either of them happened to be Kannada or Telugu the concerned figures were over-checked by one of the Supervisors who was a Tamilian. As a further measure of precaution, the figures were subjected to a random check by my Assistant. These precautionary measures, fool-proof though they were, would not perhaps have been sufficient in themselves to allay suspicions as to the genuineness of the figures, had not the figures been abstracted from the original 1951 enumeration records, namely the National Register of Citizens and the Enumeration slips. Since these records had emerged at the regular decennial census, at a time when the storm of linguistic controversy had not yet burst on the political sea, the figures extracted from them cannot but be regarded as authentic, particularly in view of the fact that differences between the 1951 sorting and the present language sorting, are altogether insignificant (vide statement of differences appearing on page iv).

I have stated above that the villagewise language figures have been abstracted from the National Register of Citizens and the Enumeration slips of the 1951 Census. It may not be out of place to add that while figures for the first batch of bilingual taluks were extracted from the National Registers, those for the second batch of 13 bilingual taluks were tapped from the Enumeration slips. Difference in source does not, however, affect the results in the least, as the information contained in these two records is identical.

The figures emerging from villagewise sorting are exhibited in the following pages. For obvious reasons, details are furnished here for the main languages only (viz.—Kannada, Telugu, Tamil and Hindustani) while figures for all other languages have been combined and shown under “Others”. In order to enable the language position to be seen in sharper focus, percentages are also given along with absolute values. Preceding the villagewise data of each taluk will be found an abstract revealing the language position in each of the towns and Revenue Circles of that taluk.

For reasons we need not go into here, a separate brochure is published for each district. Each district brochure contains, apart from statistical data, a District Language map showing in colours the areas of dominance of each of the main languages (namely, Kannada, Telugu, Tamil and Hindustani) and taluk maps showing the predominant language in each village of the bilingual taluks dealt with in the publication. As these taluk maps are too small to accommodate village names, serial numbers have been given instead, corresponding to the village serials contained in the respective taluk language statements. It is hardly necessary to add that bechirak or uninhabited villages are left uncoloured in the taluk language maps.

Along with the maps and statements, it will be seen, each district brochure contains a review of the present position of the main languages in the district and the position each of them had occupied in the past.

In the work of abstracting villagewise data and in bringing out the Language Brochures, I was ably assisted by Sri G. Nanjundiah, my First Assistant. He has brought to bear on this subject the same sense of thoroughness which was abundantly in evidence in his Census assignment. It has become part of his nature to shoulder increasing responsibilities of a varied nature and to do the work entrusted to his care with energy, devotion and assiduity.

The staff recruited for language sorting did a splendid job and though for obvious reasons their names are not mentioned here individually, every one of them is entitled to my thanks. Special mention might, however, be made of the outstanding efforts of Sriyuths S. S. Krishna Murthy, V. S. Sreenivasa Iyengar and S. S. Ronald. In spite of his being saddled with the additional duties of Manager and Accountant, my Stenographer Sri U. V. Sreenivasa Rao cheerfully attended to the large volume of typing work connected with the publications. To him also my thanks are due.

The printing of the Language Handbooks was in the capable hands of Sri D. S. Gurubassappa and his Assistants Sriyuths M. A. Sree Rama and B. P. Mallaraj Urs. They have bestowed personal attention to the work and with the assistance of Sri C. Seetharama Setty the General Supervisor, and Sri M. Nanjappa, Supervisor of the Photo-Zinco Section have made the publications outstanding in their get-up. And for that reason, they have all of them earned my thanks.

I am particularly indebted to Shri Rajeshwari Prasad, I.A.S., the Deputy Registrar General, for his unfailing courtesy and for the readiness with which he came to my aid in solving the hundred and one problems with which the work of villagewise language sorting was literally bristling.

LANGUAGE PATTERN OF TUMKUR DISTRICT

Of the 65 languages spoken in the State as mother-tongue, Tumkur District has returned only 21. Of these 21 languages, Kannada with its 78.9 per cent claim has a comfortable lead over the rest. Telugu the next largest contributor comes far behind with a mere 11.9 per cent. With its 6.1 per cent contribution Hindusthani has assured itself of the third place, while Tamil has limped into the fourth with its piddling claim of 1.3 per cent, closely followed by Marathi with a disconsolate 1 per cent. These five languages together account for as much as 99.2 per cent of the district's population and leave the rest of the languages to make up the tally.

Kannada is the dominant language in every taluk in the district, except Pavagada where Telugu claims that distinction. Of these Kannada taluks, it is noteworthy, every one except Madhugiri boasts of a Kannada proportion of over 80 per cent. Even in Madhugiri Taluk the Kannada contribution is worth 59.1 per cent of the total, and in the Tiptur cum Turuvekere tract, at the other extreme, the proportion is as high as 93.2 per cent. Though the present Kannada claim of 78.9 marks a slight fall from its 1941 position (80.1 per cent), it is interesting nevertheless to note that the language has actually gained on the whole since the turn of the century (78.1 per cent in 1901). While this is true of the district as a whole, two taluks in the district namely Madhugiri and Pavagada, have sustained considerable and one might say even spectacular Kannada losses. Madhugiri where the Kannada percentage was as high as 78.6 in 1901 now claims only 59.1 per cent for that language, and Pavagada which boasted then of an even higher percentage of Kannada (79.5) than Madhugiri, now betrays a Kannada proportion as low as 33.9 per cent, the lowest in the district.

While the Kannada proportion has been showing on the whole an upward trend in the district, that of Telugu on the other hand has been registering a steady decline. From 14.9 per cent in 1901 the Telugu claim has slumped to as little as 11.9 in 1951 and indications are that the proportion would go down still further. Due probably to their geographical affinity with Andhra, Madhugiri and Pavagada alone among the taluks in this district, have been showing a marked and increasing partiality for Telugu. Madhugiri no doubt still claims a Kannada majority (59.1 per cent) but its Telugu proportion has shot up from 12.8 per cent in 1901 to as much as 33.9 per cent in 1951. With Andhra territory surrounding it practically on all sides, it is not altogether surprising that Pavagada's Telugu proportion should have zoomed up to 59.6 per cent in 1951 from as low as 15 per cent in 1901. Nor is it surprising, by the same token, that its Kannada proportion should have slumped during the same interval from as high as 79.5 per cent to as little as 33.9 per cent. Sira's low Telugu quota begs for an explanation because part of it adjoins Andhra. The explanation, however, is very simple. This particular bit of Andhra territory (Madakasira Taluk of Anantapur District) happens to have a Kannada majority.

Next to Kannada and Telugu, Hindusthani occupies the most important position in Tumkur District. Its quota of 6.1 per cent is, however, the lowest among the four bilingual districts namely Bangalore, Kolar, Chitaldrug and Tumkur, and is lower even than the State Hindusthani proportion of 7.3 per cent. Of the taluks in the district, Pavagada with 3.0 per cent has the lowest Hindusthani quota while Sira with 7.4 per cent claims the highest. The latter's high Hindusthani proportion reflects the fact that it formed the capital of a province, first under the Bijapur Sultans and subsequently under the Moghuls.

Although Tamil comes fourth in the order of importance in the district, its quota of 1.3 per cent is easily the lowest among the districts and cities of the State. In as many as seven out of the ten taluks in the district, the Tamil contribution is below 1 per cent and in one namely Sira it is as low as 0.1 per cent. By an odd coincidence, Kunigal Taluk which lies on the opposite end of the district claims the highest Tamil percentage (3.1).

Of the remaining languages returned in the district, Marathi contributes 1 per cent to the total and 16 other languages league themselves to make up the balance of 0.8 per cent,
